

Business Development Training Courses

We require food entrepreneurs interested in our Food Business Incubator Program to complete a basic business development training course before applying. Understanding basic business concepts and practices are important for your business launch and ongoing success.

Below is a list of our approved training courses. If you have taken a course not listed, please check in with us to see if it meets our requirements. We can also help you select a training option best suited for you. Some of these courses are only offered several times a year so we encourage you register early.

For more information about applying and required training, please email Njambi Gishuru (njambi@foodinnovationnetwork.org) or call her at 206-291-7407.
